

Home of the Fourth Royal Tank Regiment

IV

A smile a laugh a welcome word
Was all it took and often heard
The man exuded care and charm
A lovely man who would not harm
We from four owe you so much
A man who had the common touch
Who in his presence we all knew
A man of which there are so few

He did not rise to high estate
But could with all his friends relate
Standing tall he had an air
He simply lifted our lives and cared.

A stalwart man of that he was
A man we will with round applause
Salute your passing with more than a cry
The time you spent with us has gone by
You were our friend our legion our flag

The Regimental Collect

“Almighty God, whose perfect love casteth our fear, mercifully grant that thy servants of the Royal Tank Regiment may Fear Naught but to fall from thy favor; for his Sake in whom Thou art well pleased, Thy Beloved Son, Jesus Christ, Our Lord.

Amen.
